Engineering Flooring:

WARRANTY STATEMENT

Wide Plank Hardwood warrants the lamination process of the top and the substrate layer for a period of 10 years, under conditions stated by the NWFA regarding Relative Humidity and temperature etc.

Installation:

It is your responsibility to ensure that the proper conditions are set for receiving all Wide Plank Hardwood Inc. products. The installer must determine that the job site conditions meet or exceed standards set by the industry for proper installation, refer to the NWFA regulations.

To ensure a high quality flooring installation, flooring must be laid over a level high-quality subfloor. Flooring installers are responsible for final product quality and jobsite conditions. If the material is defective while it's being installed, it is the responsibility of the installer to halt the install and report the deficiencies to the supplier. You and your installer are responsible for inspecting flooring prior to installation.

Installing the flooring constitutes acceptance of our product by the purchaser and installer

Damage:

Wide Plank Hardwood Inc. will not accept any responsibility due to damages incurred to improper transportation, storage, installation, or any other cause.

Maintenance:

All hardwood products must be maintained and cleaned regularly. Flooring should be cleaned with a damp mop with water or in combination with approved products.

Warranty Limitations

The following non-exclusive limitations are not covered in the warranties described herein:

Any scuff, marks, dents, scratches, or dulling of gloss. This may include damage caused by heeled shoes, children, pets or use of incorrect and not approved cleaners.

Damage caused by vacuum cleaners, furniture or other objects being wheeled or dragged across the floor. Wide Plank Hardwood Inc. recommends using protective non-staining, non-pigmented plastic or felt pads to support furniture. All protective pads should be replaced regularly.

Any cracks, splits, chipping, splintering, or edge fractures that occur after installation as a result of abuse or improper care for the product, including exposure to improper humidity levels and environmental conditions.

The natural movement of the wood as a result of improper humidity / temperature levels that may cause flooring to cup or crown either during or after the acclimatization and installation process.

Wood flooring installed in rooms containing tubs or showers.

The change in the color of the wood as it ages, or is exposed to excessive moisture, or UV rays.

Normal wear and tear of the floors finish in areas of high traffic.

Noises including, but not limited to, squeaks, popping, etc.

Damage or defects due to construction or installation-related activities, including installations made: (i) in violation of applicable state or local housing or building codes, or (ii) contrary to written instructions furnished with the product, or (iii) where high moisture activities, such as painting, tile and stone work takes place after delivering the flooring.

Flooring deficiencies caused by problems related to the subfloor, joint assemblies.

Insect infestation.

Damage caused by water or moisture from the subfloor. This includes but is not limited to pipe bursts/leaks, spillage, excessive water used while mopping, and environmental conditions such as flooding.

Damage caused by natural disasters, acts of terrorism and acts of God.

IMPORTANT: Humidity Control:

You and your installer are responsible for acclimatizing the area in which the floor will be installed and ensuring that it is an appropriate environment.

Relative humidity levels in the home must remain consistent throughout the year, within the range of 40 to 50%, otherwise the warranty is void.

*In the SUMMER, excessive humidity can cause hardwood boards to swell and cup. Use air conditioning or a dehumidifier to lower the humidity to proper levels.

*In the WINTER, excessive dryness can cause wood floors to shrink, creating gaps between the boards and in some cases, cupping as well. Use a humidifier to increase the humidity to proper levels in the colder season.

Maintaining these levels throughout each season is key to keeping your floor in top shape. Use a hygrometer to measure seasonal changes in relative humidity levels.
